The image shows a collage of three elements related to digital papyrology:

- Top Left: A fragment of an ancient papyrus scroll with some text visible.
- Bottom Left: A snippet of XML code representing the digital transcription of the papyrus text. It includes tags for source description, language (English and Greek), and the actual text with various annotations like `<sup>`, ``, and `<expan>`.
- Right: A list of papyrus fragments, numbered 1 through 10, with their corresponding Greek text and some commentary. The list is titled "Apparatus" and includes a reference to an assistant.
